Mullenweg said that talking about change “isn’t going to get you banned,” adding that it’s “other behavior” that leads to people being banned from WordPress. While Verdonschot was no doubt alluding to de Valk’s ban, Mullenweg declined to speak further, telling Verdonschot that he wanted to keep the Q&A “positive.”

The Q&A also touched on gender equality in tech, with Caroline from Hong Kong raising concerns about how women at her company are treated unequally to men. Closing out the Q&A, Lyschik asked Caroline to connect with her and other women in WordPress to build stronger support networks.
